Summary and Analysis of the Poem "Mending Wall" by Robert Frost | Owlcation

Jul 6, - The poem he chose was "Mending Wall," which is ostensibly about two New Englanders setting out to repair the stone barrier between their.

But at spring mending-time we find them there. I let my neighbor know beyond the hill;. And on a day we meet to walk the line. And set the wall between us once.

SOMETHING there is that doesn't love a wall,. That sends the frozen-ground-swell under it,. And spills the upper boulders in the sun;. And makes gaps even two.

The neighbor beyond the hill is a traditionalist and has, it seems, little time for such nonsense. The importance of what he chooses to say is exceeded by the import of Mending Walls he has chosen to say it. Significantly, though the speaker's observation is reiterated later in the poem, it is not a self-contained statement.

Theelvesaretiny, mythical, supernatural beings from folklore. Hiddencat Rather it is the far more spirited, lively, and "mischievous" speaker of the poem. Notice also that it Mending Walls the speaker himself who repairs the wall after the hunters have broken it.
