The tough get going. A resident can also contract with a licensed home health care provider for nursing and other health care services, as long as the resident continues to meet the requirements to reside in an assisted living facility. However, things don't always go as we plan. You may be convinced that your family member is no longer capable of driving, while your brothers argue that he needs to maintain his independence. Caregivers are at great risk for depression and are more likely to lapse into poor health habits such as an unhealthy diet or lack of exercise. This tendency can grow even more pronounced under the strain of caregiving. Some long-term care facilities provide both assisted living and nursing home services. You can find more information about these services on their website at www.floridavets.com. Some workplaces have also established their own leave policies.
